Union Leaders, Others Join In Early Morning Confab With Safety Chief

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1 — With 175 police on duty, peace reigned early today at the Cleveland Fisher body plant of General Motors Corp., where at least 45 persons were injured in fighting between police and strikers and sympathizers yesterday.

Officials of the striking United Automobile Workers, C. I. O. wing, met early today with Safety Director Elliot Ness as his emergency proclamation went into effect. The proclamation forbids gathering of pickets within a large area surrounding the plant and limits the number of pickets at each of the plant's five gates.

The pickets were established at the gates under police supervision shortly after 7 a. m. Further limitation of pickets is possible if Common Pleas Judge John P. Dempsey grants an injunction requested by attorneys for General Motors Corp.

The injunction asks that pickets be limited to two at each gate.

Police Chief George Matowitz, who also attended the conference, instructed the policemen on duty to use the utmost patience in explaining provisions of the proclamation to strikers and sympathizers who might attempt to enter the restricted zone.

Charles Beckman, U. A. W.-C. I. O. president, promised Ness that picketing would be peaceful (Continued on Page Two)

G-MEN SEEKING F. D. R. WEIGHS TRAIN BANDITS WATCH STATUTE

Two Men Escape Mail Car After Robbery Fails; Third Is Nabbed

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 1 — G-men aided state and local authorities today in a hunt for two of three bandits who were foiled by railway clerks in a "wild west" attempt to seize a $85,615 army payroll.

The third bandit was wounded by the clerks in a gun battle aboard an Illinois Central train near Onarga, Ill., and broke his leg as he jumped from the train's mail car. The gunman identified himself as John Frank Waldron. He gave a non-existent Chicago address and refused to name his companions, who escaped through a hail of bullets in an automobile. Waldron was held in a Champaign hospital.

A postal clerk, Guy O'Hern, 47, was treated for wounds suffered when one of the robbers beat him over the head with a revolver butt.

Two of the bandits boarded the train yesterday at Onarga, halfway between Kankakee and Champaign and some 30 miles north of Chanute Field, army air base to which the payroll was consigned.

O'Hern and the other mail clerk, Earl Boothman, opened fire on the robbers and finally routed them.

One of the bandits pulled an airbrake cord, jumped, and managed to reach an automobile that had been pacing the train. The mail clerk said they believed he had been wounded.

REILLEY ESCAPES CRITICISM OVER WEST'S ESCAPE

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1 — Welfare Director Charles Sherwood's formal report today to Governor Bricker on the escape of Velma West, Painesville hammer slayer, and three other Marysville reformatory convicts, contained no criticism of Superintendent Marguerite Reilley, the director said. He added that he would not interfere with Mrs. Reilley's plans for disciplining Mrs. West and Mary Ellen Richards, captured in Dallas, Tex., last week. They are in solitary confinement.

President Uncertain About Signing Bill Curtailing Political Activity

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 — To veto or not to veto the Hatch bill, that was the burning question on President Roosevelt's mind today as he received urgent advice in both directions.

It was considered likely the President would withhold action on the measure which bars all but top flight "policy-making" federal employees from political activity (Continued on Page Two)

ARMY'S FLYING Fortress SETS ALTITUDE MARK

DAYTON, O., Aug. 1 — Carrying a load of fifteen and one-half tons, the army's flying fortress soared to an altitude of 8,200 feet to exceed the former record made in Russia, Wright field officials announced today.

Despite a brisk cross wind, the huge bomber, piloted by Major Caleb V. Haynes and Captain V. D. Olds, rose from the ground with no trouble and went on to set the record as part of the air corps celebration of its 13th birthday.

The flight was surrounded by the greatest secrecy and it was not until several hours after the record was set that official announcement was made of the feat. The plane's actual payload was 31,205 pounds of lead and water. This compared to 26,660 pounds carried by the Russian plane which rose to 6,561 feet at Tselikovo on Nov. 20, 1936.

London Claims Germans Taking Many Danzig Communists Away

BERLIN, Aug. 1 — Fighting broke out today between Rumanian and Hungarian border guards at the Tescoo bridge across the river Theiss, according to a German news agency dispatch from Budapest. The Rumanians opened rifle and machine-gun fire, the dispatch said, wounding one Hungarian.

As a result of the incident, Exchange Telegraph reported, the Rumanian government decided to break off and postpone indefinitely current Hungaro-Rumanian trade negotiations.

The Theiss or Tisza river, where the incident occurred, skirts the border of Rumania and Ruthenia, otherwise known as Carpatho-Ukraine, which is under virtual Hungarian domination. This area has been the scene of numerous clashes in recent months.

BOMBAY GREET DRY RULE WITH WILD DISORDER

BOMBAY, Aug. 1 — Gunfire accompanied the advent of prohibition in Bombay and its crowded suburbs today, with 25 casualties reported in a series of wild disorders.

Police were forced to fire into a Moslem crowd in the northern quarter of Bombay protesting against tax increases imposed to offset the loss of liquor revenue. Ten demonstrators and fifteen police were injured in the ensuing melee.

To compensate for the loss of revenues and also to pay for prohibition enforcement, the Bombay authorities boosted taxes on property, cloth and public services.

Liquor rations were ordered for Europeans as the prohibition decree, covering 1,161,000 residents, went into effect.

YOUNG DOCTOR'S ACT PRESERVES LIVES OF TWINS

IDABEL, Okla., Aug. 1 — A quick thinking young country doctor, who hastily built a breathing device out of a sealed fruit jar and an oxygen-acetylene tank, was credited with saving the lives of Larry and Louie Faulkner, four-month-old twins.

The babies, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Faulkner, were suffering from whooping cough, and hopes of saving them had been given up by other physicians two weeks ago.

When their condition became even more critical, 29-year-old Dr. George K. Fisher, was summoned. "I didn't have any instruments necessary for the case," the young doctor stated, "so I went to a garage and borrowed an oxygen-acetylene tank used for welding. As 3,000 Pickets Fought Police in Fisher Strike

A STRIKER and a strike-breaker engage in a rough-and-tumble individual duel as 3,000 pickets and strike sympathizers at the Fisher Body plant, Cleveland, O., battle with 450 police. Flying rocks and tear gas resulted in injury to many before Police Chief Matowitz requested a truce.

West Virginians, Hunting Jobs, Ordered Back Home

Six men and women and a two-year-old baby from West Virginia, arrested in Columbus by railroad police when enroute to Minnesota to work in the wheat fields rather than "sponge off their kin" or go on relief, were apparently through Pickaway county Tuesday on their homeward journey.

The Southerners were arrested Sunday when they left a box car after an eight-day trip from Logan, W. Va. They left home with six loaves of bread and a half ring of bologna.

The group included Victor Marcum, 22, and his wife, Caroline, 16, of Strait, W. Va.; Opie Marcum, 22, and his wife, Jane, 18, and their daughter, Millie, 2, and Parker McDonnell, 23, and his wife, Elizabeth, 21, all of Logan, W. Va. Two of the women and the men were fined $15 and costs each in police court.

Brought To County Line
Monday afternoon, a Franklin county deputy sheriff gathered up the group and took them to the Franklin-Pickaway county line.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Armstrong said a couple, probably one of the group, asked him where the relief director's office was located. He directed them to the home of D. H. Marcy, relief director.

Mr. Marcy said the couple got him out of bed about 11 p. m. but there was nothing he could do for them. "We sometimes take care of transient families with children but this is not stopping place for them," he said. He directed them to the police station where they might find shelter for the night.

They apparently did not return to the police station as Patrolman Fred Fitzpatrick said there was no couple there when he went on duty early Tuesday.

The whereabouts of the other two couples and the baby was unknown to county authorities. The men were cousins. Matrons at the Columbus detention home donated some money for food for the baby.

BULLET CHEWER HURT AS CARTRIDGE EXPLODES

BOSTON, Aug. 1 — Anthony Mazzone, 19, today attained the height of something-or-other in qualifying himself for "the human rifle" championship.

The bullet exploded, causing painful cuts of his mouth and tongue. Physicians told the champ he was lucky the bullet emerged from his mouth instead of plowing into his neck.

JUDGE HASWELL, LOUISVILLE, DIES

Kin Of Circleville Folk Prominent In Kentucky G. O. P. Affairs

Relatives in Circleville have received word of the death last Saturday night in Louisville, Ky., of Judge John P. Haswell, 65, who ran as the Republican nominee against Senator Alben W. Barkley last year. Judge Haswell died suddenly at 7:30 p. m. after a heart attack.

He was a cousin of Miss Edith and James Haswell of Circleville with whom he had frequently visited.

Judge Haswell entered the practice of law in his native Hardinburg at 19, served as state representative three terms early in his career, and each time was the Republican nominee for the speaker's position.

He was chairman of the State Board of Charities and Corrections under Governors William J. Fields and Flem D. Sampson.

In 1916, Judge Haswell was the Fourth Congressional District's Republican nominee for United States representative.

He had served as Railroad Commissioner from the First Kentucky District, Circuit Judge, and assistant United States attorney for the state's Western District.

BROTHERS NEAR RECORD IN LONG PLANE FLIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 1 — While endurance flyers, Hunter and Humphrey Moody today were only a few hours short of their goal, a celebration was arranged for early tonight when the DeCatur airmen were expected to establish a new record for light planes.

At 5:43 p. m. today the aviators will equal the old mark of 218 hours of sustained flight and then exactly one hour later will officially eclipse that record.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle and Mayor John W. Kapp will speak to the flyers by radio at the airport tonight during a half-hour broadcast in recognition of their achievement.

Whistles from mines and manufacturing plants will blow a long salute to the airmen when they surpass the record and set a new one.

A slight accident yesterday, in which the plane's right wing was ripped by a small metal door torn from the hands of Humphrey Moody, failed to interrupt the flight.

The flyer-brothers, growing weary of the long ordeal, both declared they would be glad when a new record is established. For over nine days, they have been living in cramped quarters in their small craft "Miss Springfield," without getting much sleep or exercise.

NEW DEAL WINS SENATE VERDICT IN 55-28 BALLOT

Farm Bloc Fighting For Money To Expand Rural Electrification

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 — In the face of a menacing "economy bloc" coalition, the house today begins debate on its own $1,950,000,000 lending bill, with leaders driving for passage in two days to make possible adjournment by Saturday night.

The house measure was substituted for the $1,615,000,000 lending bill passed in the senate by a 55 to 27 vote late yesterday after a stubborn fight, during which the original New Deal program was riddled by amendments.

House leaders, conceding possible defeat of the huge measure devised by the administration to create employment through self-liquidating loans, nevertheless sought a speedy showdown.

The $500,000,000 Wagner housing bill, thus far blocked by house opposition, was to be proposed as an amendment to the lending bill. Thus, the house would face the issue on the administration's entire vast lending program.

More Blows Aimed

DISABLED ARMY VETERANS HEAR SPIES ASSAILED

BOSTON, Aug. 1 — Resolutions condemning subversive activities and calling on the attorney general of the United States to intensify the drive against espionage were before the Disabled American Veterans of the World War in 19th annual convention today with indications they would be unanimously adopted.

Another resolution favored commending the senate foreign affairs committee for its vote against the Bloom neutrality bill.

The resolutions committee also drafted resolutions calling for increased benefits to disabled veterans, review of the W. F. A. program, broadening of Social Security benefits and an expanded military force.

Delegates heard a plea to keep the United States out of another world conflict by General Maude Booth, head of the Volunteers of America, and herself a World War veteran.

"It is up to you men who bear the outward and visible signs of what war does to our youth, to talk louder than those aliens whose propaganda is being circulated in our very classrooms," General Booth said.

"Disabled American veterans are the best living argument we have against foreign entanglements which might drag us into another international tragedy."

"JUST A KID," STAR OF FILMS SAYS OF BANDIT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 — "He seems like just a kid who got off on the wrong foot," declared Clark Gable, husky screen hero, today in speaking of the prowler he floored in his home.

"He wasn't a very big guy, but he put up a fight," Gable said, as he related the manner in which he battled with the youth, booked by police as William Brosky, 18, a cook's helper. "When the fight was out of him, I bagged him downstairs and told the cook to call police."

Gable captured the youth, it was learned, by wrestling a gun from him and delivering a left hook to the jaw.

House leaders, conceding possible defeat of the huge measure devised by the administration to create employment through self-liquidating loans, nevertheless sought a speedy showdown.

The $500,000,000 Wagner housing bill, thus far blocked by house opposition, was to be proposed as an amendment to the lending bill. Thus, the house would face the issue on the administration's entire vast lending program.

More Blows Aimed

A Republican anti New Deal Democratic coalition, which has dealt the administration several severe blows, swung into operation in an effort to either emasculate or kill the lending measure.

Administration leaders thrust forward their own coalition—a coalition between the "city bloc," (Continued on Page Two)

DISABLED ARMY VETERANS HEAR SPIES ASSAILED

BOSTON, Aug. 1—Resolutions condemning subversive activities and calling on the attorney general of the United States to intensify the drive against espionage were before the Disabled American Veterans of the World War in 19th annual convention today with indications they would be unanimously adopted.

Another resolution favored commending the senate foreign affairs committee for its vote against the Bloom neutrality bill.

The resolutions committee also drafted resolutions calling for increased benefits to disabled veterans, review of the W. P. A. program, broadening of Social Security benefits and an expanded military force.

Delegates heard a plea to keep the United States out of another world conflict by General Maude Booth, head of the Volunteers of America, and herself a World War veteran.

"It is up to you men who bear the outward and visible signs of what war does to our youth, to talk louder than those aliens whose propaganda is being circulated in our very classrooms," General Booth said.

"Disabled American veterans are the best living argument we have against foreign entanglements which might drag us into another international tragedy."

"JUST A KID," STAR OF FILMS SAYS OF BANDIT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 — "He seems like just a kid who got off on the wrong foot," declared Clark Gable, husky screen hero, today in speaking of the prowler he floored in his home.

"He wasn't a very big guy, but he put up a fight," Gable said, as he related the manner in which he battled with the youth, booked by police as William Brooks, 18, a cock's helper. "When the fight was out of him, I bagged him downstairs and told the cook to call police."

Gable captured the youth. It was learned, by wrestling a gun from him and delivering a left hook to the jaw.

FORMER CHIEF OF OGPU EXECUTED BY RUSSIANS

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—Nikolai Yezhov, former chief of the dreaded Soviet OGPU who launched the purges which eliminated Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky and other Soviet army leaders, has been executed on counter-revolutionary charges, according to a Warsaw dispatch to the Miyako Shunbun today.

Yezhov was arrested last April, the dispatch said, after evidence showed his purges had been carried out with insufficient evidence.

ARMED BANDITS REPORTED SURROUNDED ALONG LAKE

STURGIS, Mich., Aug. 1.—Two Battle Creek robbers today were believed surrounded in the woods near Perrin Lake by a posse of 50 state police and sheriff's officers.

They escaped a trap near Wasepi last night, but were located again today when their abandoned automobile was found in the wooded section. The burglars ran the car off the highway and into the woods in an effort to escape detection.

Police said they carried one gun with them, but left a second in the abandoned car.

The pair is wanted for the robbery of a Battle Creek store in which $25 in cash and a quantity of clothing was taken.

jar, sealed the top after filling it half full of water and ran two tubes through each end of this homemade air pressure gauge. One tube, of course, ran from the tank through the bottom of the jar. The other extended from the sealed cap to the twins, filling their lungs with the oxygen they couldn't procure themselves.

Dr. Fisher stated that the air pressure from the tank was regulated by the fruit jar. As the air passed through the water, air bubbles would rise to the surface, thus he could maintain just the right pressure according to the needs of his tiny patients.

"The babies are doing splendidly now," Dr. Fisher said. "I started using my improvised oxygen tank almost two weeks ago. Now, it is rarely needed."

ROBBERS INVADE GOTHAM STORE, FLEE WITH GEMS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Gems valued at between $12,000 and $15,000 were stolen by three bandits today from the office of Abraham Shapiro, midtown jewelry manufacturer who was tied with rope by his assailants.

Shapiro, found struggling in his bonds on the floor by a salesman, said he was alone in the office when a stranger entered and started inspecting some bracelets. Soon two more men entered, flourishing revolvers. After tying Shapiro up, the trio took the gems, most of them unset diamonds, from an open safe and disappeared.

and the union would observe the proclamation if there were no provocation of trouble on the part of the police.

Attorney William Corrigan, acting for the union, indicated he would question the legality of the proclamation.

Company officials indicated that approximately 100 of the 300 non-striking workers who were permitted to stay in the plant last night had slipped out early today.

Mayer Harold H. Burton was at the plant when the proclamation went into effect at 3 a. m., as was almost every high police official in Cleveland.

In rioting that broke out and lasted for two hours yesterday at least 45 persons sustained injuries serious enough to require hospital treatment. It was impossible to estimate the number of others who were treated at home for tear gas or slight injuries received from thrown stones and bricks.

At the height of the battle both sides were throwing tear gas bombs and the police called into play streams of water from high pressure fire department hoses.

SOUTH BARRE, Mass., Aug. 1.—State troopers guarded entrances to the Barre Wool Combining company plant today as non-striking workers walked unmolested into the plant through picket lines.

The situation was in marked contrast to fist fights and window breaking in the strike area last night when a "state of emergency" was called and all streets cleared by a flying squadron of state police.

After the officers had dispersed 3,000 persons milling about the plant, company officials posted notices that all persons wishing employment would be taken back but only a few answered the call, union officials said.

The troopers were ordered to maintain order by Acting Governor Horace T. Cahill after local authorities termed the town "ungovernable" and reported four assaults and the disarming of a man found carrying a pistol.

The strike began last week in a demand for higher wages and reinstatement of four women workers who, company officials said, walked out in protest against a re-assignment of work.

Mr. and Mrs. Amspaugh have cuts and bruises and head injuries. Mrs. Lockard suffered head and back injuries. The women were treated in a Hamilton hospital.

This Amspaugh car was in collision with a car driven by Emery Smith, of Collinsville. Mrs. Smith suffered a broken arm.

One divorce was granted and another filed in Common Pleas court Tuesday.

Doris Leasure filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas court against Ernest Leasure, W. High street, charging neglect of duty. They were married June 28, 1933 in Greenup, Ky., and have three children. Mrs. Leasure asks custody of the children and alimony. An order was granted by Judge Meeker Terwilliger restraining Mr. Leasure from disposing of any property or interfering with the plaintiff or children while the action is pending.

intent on obtaining the $800,000,000 slum clearance bill, and the "farm bloc," which backed liberalized farm tenant and rural electrification loans.

Chairman Henry Steagall (D) Alabama of the banking committee led the fight for the lending program. The house measure was reported by this committee after it had slashed $850,000,000 from the original total.

The house bill carried money for loans as follows: exports-import bank foreign loans, $100,000,000; roads, $500,000,000; railroads, $250,000,000; rural electrification, $350,000,000; public works, $350,000,000; and farm security, $400,000,000.

The lending bill passed the senate by a surprising margin. At one time, foes claimed enough votes to kill it.

The senate, however, loaded the bill with amendments which may provoke a bitter fight with the house if the measure reaches the conference stage.

F. D.'s Wish Followed

Before final passage the senate adopted the amendment of Senator Byrd (D) Virginia to make bonds and debentures issued under the bill taxable. The vote was 44 to 37. This was in accord with an expressed wish of President Roosevelt.

The senate wiped out funds for roads, adopted an amendment prohibiting loan of money to projects which would compete with private enterprise, prohibits labor unions from making campaign contributions without authority of members, and eliminated special provisions.

tivity, until the Thursday midnight deadline.

Many of his intimates thought the executive might disapprove the bill, which concededly will weaken the New Deal political machine so carefully built up by the President and Postmaster General James A. Farley through federal patronage.

On the other hand, it was recalled that Mr. Roosevelt had approved the "broad objectives" of the bill and had warned reporters against going out on a limb in speculation over his ultimate action.

It was obvious that the President was weighing the Hatch bill with the greatest of care. Late yesterday, he conferred for an hour and a half with Attorney General Murphy, who was reluctant to discuss his White House call, but conceded the anti-federal political bill was "among many things discussed."

Murphy said he "still had a little more work to do" on the bill and would discuss it further with the President. He said he had "a personal opinion" but would not disclose it. Senator Carl A. Hatch, author of the highly controversial measure, was quoted following a conference with the attorney general last week as being satisfied it was constitutional.

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

TAKEN FOR A RIDE

"On the unimpaired credit of the United States Government rests the safety of deposits and the security of insurance policies. The credit of the government definitely affects these fundamental human values."

I shall discuss these words of President Roosevelt in the light of his lending-spending bill. "Fundamental human values" are indeed at stake. The "safety of deposits" and the "security of insurance policies" have already been impaired. They will be further impaired as the debt increases.

First, it is consider savings deposits.

In my home city savings deposits are now paying only one and one-half per cent. They formerly paid four per cent. That is a reduction of over 60 per cent. It means that the income from that deposit is worth that much less to the person who earned and saved it. The security for old age for the hard working thrifty American is slowly melting away.

An old lady, 78 years old, showed me her savings account book the other day. She had to her credit $4,000—representing 40 years of sacrifice and denial. Her bank will pay her only one and one-half per cent on that account, or $60 a year to live on. Formerly it paid her four per cent or $160 a year. Her loss in income is $100 a year. "Cheap money" is very costly to her. This old lady is just one of 40,000,000 owners of savings bank accounts, totalling $25,000,000,000.

In his last campaign Mr. Roosevelt said, "This debt is not going to be paid by taking away the hard-won savings of the present generation." But contrary to his statement, the hard-won savings of the present generation are already being taken away. John Smith, let us say, hopes to earn and save enough in his working years to have an income of $40 a month, or $480 a year, when he passes the industrial dead line. That is not a large sum but it will provide the necessities of life.

If he saves $12,000 he has at four per cent his $480 a year, or $40 a month. But at one and one-half per cent in order to have $480 a year, he would have to earn and save $32,000, or $20,000 more for the same protection. This is a sum wholly impossible for the average person to accumulate.

The same process of the liquidation of thrift is going on in life insurance. Leading life insurance companies announced last December that life income contracts—non-participating, taken out after January 1st, would "guarantee only one-half as much income at retirement age as present contracts." It now costs about 30 per cent more for the same life insurance protection as it did in 1930. This is social security in reverse gear.

Life insurance companies have only two sources of revenue, one, the income on their investments, and second, the premiums paid by their policy holders. As their investments earn less, they they must increase their premium charge or reduce their insurance protection. This is exactly what they are now doing. The result is that 64,000,000 policy holders are being for a ride.

Now, how does this constant seepage of the savings of millions of people tie in with the present lending-spending bill, and all other measures that are increasing the public debt by billions a year, now for the ninth consecutive year, with no end in sight?

Look at the financial page of your paper. Notice the per cent of return now being paid on United States Government bonds and notes. You will see that after issue, aggregating billions of dollars, are yielding less than one per cent. Some yield nothing whatever. This is what is called "cheap money." It is the reason why your savings deposit and insurance policy is being impaired, why your old age is becoming less secure.

Because the government goes into debt billions a year it wants to borrow that money as cheaply as possible, the same as you would want to do. Secretary Morgenthau has many times prided himself on the fact that "cheap money" was holding down the interest charge on the public debt, even though the debt was going up $11,000,000 a day. The deliberate policy of a borrowing government must be to drive money rates down.

Now if "cheap money" or an unbalanced budget had stimulated business to reemploy our idle men, it might be said that your loss was made up, roughly, by returning prosperity, decreased rolls, and decreased taxes. But it has done none of these things. And with reference to the peak year of 1929, in this world-wide depression, the United States is at the very bottom of the list of 17 nations in per cent of industrial production, or new wealth annually created.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. Obviously this pump priming business has not worked. If Mr. Roosevelt will not return to policies which once gave confidence to business and investors, policies which will put our billions of idle dollars to work employing our millions of idle men, the country must do it for him! It must tell congress to stop this prodigal and useless waste of the nation's wealth and do it now.

FORMER CHIEF OF OGPU EXECUTED BY RUSSIANS

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—Nikolai Yezhov, former chief of the dreaded Soviet OGPU who launched the purges which eliminated Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky and other Soviet army leaders, has been executed on counter-revolutionary charges, according to a Warsaw dispatch to the Miyako Shunbun today.

Yezhov was arrested last April, the dispatch said, after evidence showed his purges had been carried out with insufficient evidence.

ARMED BANDITS REPORTED SURROUNDED ALONG LAKE

STURGIS, Mich., Aug. 1.—Two Battle Creek robbers today were believed surrounded in the woods near Perrin Lake by a posse of 50 state police and sheriff's officers.

They escaped a trap near Wasepi last night, but were located again today when their abandoned automobile was found in the wooded section. The burglars ran the car off the highway and into the woods in an effort to escape detection.

Police said they carried one gun with them, but left a second in the abandoned car.

The pair is wanted for the robbery of a Battle Creek store in which $25 in cash and a quantity of clothing was taken.

Now is the time to sow seeds of many of the perennials and biennials such as Oriental poppy, foxglove, delphinium, Canterbury bell and columbine. The latter are rather slow to germinate, so do not give them up if they do not appear above ground as soon as some of the other kinds.

jar, sealed the top after filling it half full of water and ran two tubes through each end of this homemade air pressure gauge.

One tube, of course, ran from the tank through the bottom of the jar. The other extended from the sealed cap to the twins, filling their lungs with the oxygen they couldn't procure themselves.

Dr. Fisher stated that the air pressure from the tank was regulated by the fruit jar. As the air passed through the water, air bubbles would rise to the surface, thus he could maintain just the right pressure, according to the needs of his tiny patients.

"The babies are doing splendidly now," Dr. Fisher said. "I started using my improvised oxygen tank almost two weeks ago. Now, it is rarely needed."

ROBBERS INVADE GOTHAM STORE, FLEE WITH GEMS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Gems valued at between $12,000 and $15,000 were stolen by three bandits today from the office of Abraham Shapiro, midtown jewelry manufacturer who was tied with rope by his assailants.

Shapiro, found struggling in his bonds on the floor by a salesman, said he was alone in the office when a stranger entered and started inspecting some bracelets. Soon two more men entered, flourishing revolvers. After tying Shapiro up, the trio took the gems, most of them unset diamonds, from an open safe and disappeared.

PEACE PREVAILS AS NESS ACTS IN LABOR STRIFE

and the union would observe the proclamation if there were no provocation of trouble on the part of the police.

Attorney William Corrigan, acting for the union, indicated he would question the legality of the proclamation.

Company officials indicated that approximately 100 of the 300 non-striking workers who were permitted to stay in the plant last night had slipped out early today.

Mayor Harold H. Burton was at the plant when the proclamation went into effect at 3 a. m., as was almost every high police official in Cleveland.

In rioting that broke out and lasted for two hours yesterday at least 45 persons sustained injuries serious enough to require hospital treatment. It was impossible to estimate the number of others who were treated at home for tear gas or slight injuries received from thrown stones and bricks.

At the height of the battle both sides were throwing tear gas bombs and the police called into play streams of water from high pressure fire department hoses.

SOUTH BARRE, Mass., Aug. 1.—State troopers guarded entrances to the Barre Wool Combining company plant today as non-striking workers unmolested into the plant through picket lines.

The situation was in marked contrast to fist fights and window breaking in the strike area last night when a "state of emergency" was called and all streets cleared by a flying squadron of state police.

After the officers had dispersed 3,000 persons milling about the plant, company officials posted notices that all persons wishing reemployment would be taken back but only a few answered the call, union officials said.

The troopers were ordered to maintain order by Acting Governor Horace T. Cahill after local authorities termed the town "un-governed" and reported four assaults and the disarming of a man found carrying a pistol.

The strike began last week in a demand for higher wages and reinstatement of four women workers who, company officials said, walked out in protest against a re-assignment of work.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amspaugh, Walnut street, and Mrs. Nellie Lockard, E. Main street, are convalescing from injuries received at 10 p. m. Sunday in an auto accident at Collinsville, O., when they were enroute to Connersville, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Amspaugh have cuts and bruises and head injuries. Mrs. Lockard suffered head and back injuries. The women were treated in a Hamilton hospital.

This Amspaugh car was in collision with a car driven by Emery Smith, of Collinsville. Mrs. Smith suffered a broken arm.

ONE DIVORCE SOUGHT, ANOTHER IS ALLOWED

One divorce was granted and another filed in Common Pleas court Tuesday.

Daisy Kolsun, E. Ohio street, obtained a divorce from John E. Kolsun, Ft. Hayes barracks, Columbus, on the grounds of neglect of duty. Mrs. Kolsun was awarded custody of a child.

Doris Leasure filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas court against Ernest Leasure, W. High street, charging neglect of duty. They were married June 28, 1933 in Greenup, Ky., and have three children. Mrs. Leasure asks custody of the children and alimony.

An order was granted by Judge Meeker Terwilliger restraining Mr. Leasure from disposing of any property or interfering with the plaintiff or children while the action is pending.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—Eddie Cantor, the comedian, today favored a $751,000 damage suit brought by Charles Gollob, apartment house operator, and his wife.

The Gollobs alleged they were assaulted and severely injured after they had walked out during a "political speech" Cantor was giving at a Hollywood radio studio.

Other defendants named in the action were the sponsors of Cantor's program, the Reelo studio and Bert Gordon, known as the "Mad Russian" in the show.

NEW DEAL WINS SENATE VERDICT IN 55-28 BALLOT

Some Administration Aides Fear Defeat For Major Priming Measure

intent on obtaining the $800,000,000 slum clearance bill, and the "farm bloc," which backed liberalized farm tenant and rural electrification loans.

Chairman Henry Steagall (D) Alabama of the banking committee led the fight for the lending program. The house measure was reported by this committee after it had slashed $850,000,000 from the original total.

The house bill carried money for loans as follows: exports-import bank foreign loans, $100,000,000; roads, $500,000,000; railroads, $250,000,000; rural electrification, $350,000,000; public works, $350,000,000; and farm security, $400,000,000.

The lending bill passed the senate by a surprising margin. At onetime, foes claimed enough votes to kill it.

The senate, however, loaded the bill with amendments which may provoke a bitter fight with the house if the measure reaches the conference stage.

F. D.'s Wish Followed

Before final passage the senate adopted the amendment of Senator Byrd (D) Virginia to make bonds and debentures issued under the bill taxable. The vote was 44 to 37. This was in accord with an expressed wish of President Roosevelt.

The senate wiped out funds for roads, adopted an amendment prohibiting loan of money to projects which would compete with private enterprise, prohibits labor unions from making campaign contributions without authority of members, and eliminated special provisions.

Other discussions at the meeting concerned a sales event to be held in the near future.

F. D. R. WEIGHS HATCH STATUTE

President Uncertain About Signing Bill Curtailing Political Activity

tivity, until the Thursday midnight deadline.

Many of his intimates thought the executive might disapprove the bill, which concededly will weaken the New Deal political machine so carefully built up by the President and Postmaster General James A. Farley through federal patronage.

On the other hand, it was recalled that Mr. Roosevelt had approved the "broad objectives" of the bill and had warned reporters against going out on a limb in speculation over his ultimate action.

It was obvious that the President was weighing the Hatch bill with the greatest of care. Late yesterday, he conferred for an hour and a half with Attorney General Murphy, who was reluctant to discuss his White House call, but conceded the anti-federal political bill was "among many things discussed."

Murphy said he "still had a little more work to do" on the bill and would discuss it further with the President. He said he had "a personal opinion" but would not disclose it. Senator Carl A. Hatch, author of the highly controversial measure, was quoted following a conference with the attorney general last week as being satisfied it was constitutional.

PETTENGILL "The Gentleman from Indiana"

TAKEN FOR A RIDE

"On the unimpaired credit of the United States Government rests the safety of deposits and the security of insurance policies. The credit of the government definitely affects these fundamental human values."

I shall discuss these words of President Roosevelt in the light of his lending-spending bill. "Fundamental human values" are indeed at stake. The "safety of deposits" and the "security of insurance policies" have already been impaired. They will be further impaired as the debt increases.

First, it is consider savings deposits.

In my home city savings deposits are now paying only one and one-half per cent. They formerly paid four per cent. That is a reduction of over 60 per cent. It means that the income from that deposit is worth that much less to the person who earned and saved it. The security for old age for the hard working thrifty American is slowly melting away.

An old lady, 78 years old, showed me her savings account book the other day. She had to her credit $4,000—representing 25 years of sacrifice and denial. Her bank will pay her only one and one-half per cent on that account, or $60 a year to live on. Formerly she had $160 a year. Her loss in income is $100 a year. "Cheap money" is very costly to her. This old lady is just one of 40,000,000 owners of savings bank accounts, totalling $25,000,000,000.

In his last campaign Mr. Roosevelt said

JULY RECEIPTS AT POSTOFFICE SET NEW MARK

Circleville's postoffice hung up another all-time record in July. Postal receipts for the month totaled $3,004.59, highest in the history of the postoffice. Previous high for the month was in 1931 when receipts amounted to $2,924.24.

A Hulse Hays, postmaster, who announced the July figures Tuesday, said the purchase of stamps has been steadily increasing in recent months. "Merchants, mills and individuals have made heavier purchases," he said. He explained the steady increase could not be attributed to any one factor.

In announcing the July receipts, Mr. Hays presented figures on receipts for the month from 1927. They were: 1927, $2,484.64; 1928, $2,523.49; 1929, $2,429.74; 1930, $2,539.33; 1931, $2,924.24; 1932, $2,796.67; 1933, $2,452.19; 1934, $2,122.17; 1935, $2,393.89; 1936, $2,495.07; 1937, $2,684.35, and 1938, $2,811.12. Mr. Hays said the receipts over the period of years averaged about $2,590. Mr. Hays has been postmaster since Nov. 1, 1933. His name has been sent to the senate by President Roosevelt for reappointment.

Postal receipts in June and for the first six months of 1939 established new records.

MEDIATOR ELLIOTT

Elliott Roosevelt, second and most turbulent son of the President, has his own private explanation for the speeches he has been making favorable to Jack Garner. These speeches have aroused the opposition even of members of his own family, but Elliott remains unperturbed.

"You see," says Elliott, "when the time comes for the national convention, we can't afford to have a split between the two branches of the party and someone has to help bring them together. I'm remaining on good terms with Garner so that I can help heal up the wounds."

There is no love lost between busy-eyed Jack Garner, anti-New Dealer, and somewhat bushy-browed Joe Guffey, Senator from Pennsylvania and 100 percent Rooseveltian. They are always taking sly digs at each other and the other day Guffey scored a fast one.

"I've decided," he announced, "to withdraw as a vice presidential candidate."

"A candidate? Didn't know you were a candidate for the job!" "Yep," retorted Guffey, "I was, but I'm out now. I've shaved my eyebrows."

GOLDWYN-ROOSEVELT

Sam Goldwyn, movie magnate who hired Jimmy Roosevelt, has decided against having any more pictures taken of himself standing with Mrs. Roosevelt.

He finds they don't get into print. Nine different agencies took pictures of him and Mrs. Roosevelt at the New York opening of "They Shall Have Music," but not one of them got into print next morning. Newspaper editors scratched them off as publicity.

SPY RADIO

Radio experts in the Government are studying the possible—though almost fantastic—use of radio as a spy medium in case of war.

Improvement and simplification of sending apparatus has introduced a new and dangerous problem. An enemy ship standing offshore could receive directions and confidential information from a spy located inland, by a radio broadcast incapable of detection.

The broadcast might be received by anyone tuning in on the same frequency, but it would sound completely innocent of meaning. It could be nothing more vicious than a Beethoven sonata or a Schubert serenade. But it could be played with slight variations in tempo or color from the accepted rendition, and each variation would in itself be a code word.

Simple sending sets make such broadcasting possible from the most remote places. An attic in a deserted house might be a signal tower to send a message of destruction through "concord of sweet sounds." Believe it or not, this is now being checked on very carefully.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

War Secretary Harry Woodring wisely bars his wife from using government planes when she accompanies him on a trip to the midwest, a rule not followed by some of his predecessors. Mrs. Woodring takes a train ahead of time and meets her husband at the air port when he arrives.

Congressman Milton West of Texas has sent out 300,000 letters under his frank booming Garner for President.

... Mrs. Charles Edison, wife of the hard-working Assistant Secretary of the Navy, is one cabinet wife who thrives on the heat of a Washington Summer.

... Hull broke his press conference into a laugh when he was asked for comment on the speech of William R. Castle, Hoover's Under Secretary of State.

Castle had said that the Administration's neutrality proposals would lead to "An American dictatorship." Hull's dry reply: "I just notice those utterances of his that are favorable to our foreign policy."

... Senator Matthew M. Neely, who represents West Virginia's coal miners in the Senate has blossomed forth in a new Summer suit of pistachio green, with tie and pocket kerchief of a darker shade of green.

JURORS DECIDE FOR R. TAFTE IN INDUSTRIAL SUIT

A Common Pleas court jury, with ten members signing, returned a verdict Monday afternoon in favor of Richard Taft, Circleville, against the Industrial Commission of Ohio. Under the verdict Mr. Taft, a former employee of the Midwest Box Co., has the right to continue to participate in the state insurance fund.

The next case scheduled in court is exceptions in the guardianship of Phillip Isaac Kern, to be presented to Judge Meeker Terwilliger next Thursday.

VOICE ... of the ... PEOPLE

To the Editor:

Mrs. Harley Mowery leaves the Pickaway County Home today after spending 25 years taking care of the aged men and women who have lived there during that period.

With her husband, the late Harley E. Mowery, Mrs. Mowery moved into the infirmary on August 1, 1914, and began the routine of conscientious service that has given the Home an enviable reputation among county institutions throughout the state.

Good care, good food, sympathy and understanding, reliable stewardship and progressive ideas have characterized the quarter of a century under the management of the Mowerys.

The people of Pickaway county owe a debt of gratitude to them for the services they rendered during those years. Certainly the people who have been under their care are generous in their statements of appreciation to the Mowerys for all the kindnesses and favors that have been an essential part of the Mowery policies at the Home.

I believe that our public officials and our public employees are, more often than not, conscientious and better than the average in the matter of appreciating the duties of their offices. But I believe that Mr. and Mrs. Mowery did even better than that—they spent twenty-four hours a day for twenty-five years, doing a first class job for the people of Pickaway county. And so well did they conceive the scope of their duties that I know of no demand that was ever made upon them and refused.

They have been fine examples of all that willingness and proper spirit can do in an institution like the Home, and as said above, I believe that we citizens of Pickaway county who have been their employers for the last twenty-five years, should go out of our way now to let Mrs. Mowery know that all their good work is really appreciated.

BRICKER NAMES JOHNSON STATE AVIATION CHIEF

COLUMBUS, August 1—Slashing the salary from $5,000 to $2,500, Gov. John W. Bricker today appointed Earle L. Johnson, Painesville Republican leader and industrialist, to the position of state aeronautical director.

Johnson succeeds Francis G. Lauffer, Columbus, who has been acting director since the Republicans took over in January and who will be retained in the department.

Long interested in aviation, the Painesville man is a former member of the state legislature and a graduate of Ohio State University. In 1932 he managed the unsuccessful gubernatorial campaign of David S. Ingalls, Cleveland, himself an aviation enthusiast.

At the same time Johnson's appointment was announced, Bricker disclosed he had appointed a four man advisory board, to serve without pay, to aid in boosting aviation in the state.

Members of the board are: George Stone, Columbus aviator; Gordon Bush, editor of the Athens Messenger; John Corradi, Columbus, another Columbus aviator,

JULY RECEIPTS AT POSTOFFICE SET NEW MARK

Postmaster Hays Reports Collection Of $3,004 Best In History

STAMP SALES INCREASE Comparative Figures Listed To Show Trend During Recent Years

Circleville's postoffice hung up another all-time record in July.

Postal receipts for the month totalled $3,004.59, highest in the history of the postoffice. Previous high for the month was in 1931 when receipts amounted to $2,924.24.

A Hulse Hays, postmaster, who announced the July figures Tuesday, said the purchase of stamps has been steadily increasing in recent months. "Merchants, mills and individuals have made heavier purchases," he said. He explained the steady increase could not be attributed to any one factor.

In announcing the July receipts, Mr. Hays presented figures on receipts for the month from 1927. They were: 1927, $2,484.64; 1928, $2,528.49; 1929, $2,429.74; 1930, $2,539.33; 1931, $2,924.24; 1932, $2,796.67; 1933, $2,452.19; 1934, $2,122.17; 1935, $2,393.89; 1936, $2,495.07; 1937, $2,684.35, and 1938, $2,811.12. Mr. Hays said the receipts over the period of years averaged about $2,590. Mr. Hays has been postmaster since Nov. 1, 1933. His name has been sent to the senate by President Roosevelt for reappointment.

Postal receipts in June and for the first six months of 1939 established new records.

GOOD FISHING!

THE silly season comes in with a bang this year, not even awaiting the advent of the fateful first of August. John L. Lewis calls John N. Garner a lot of more or less unpleasant names, and Congress rises to the latter's defense with prolonged applause. Then a Congressman rebukes Congress by saying Roosevelt has recently been called worse names and no one did anything about it. Could anything be sillier than any of this? The pink skunks and sea serpents of other years are not in the running with these causes for laughter.

The Lord High Executioner of comic opera need not be called in with his famous little list of those who never would be missed. The nation has no desire to kill off any of its most entertaining performers. But the average citizen has a list of people he'd like to see take nice long August vacations. He could spare Lewis and Coughlin and Garner and Dickinson and a dozen others whose tempers or viewings-with-alarm seem to rise with the temperatures. Cool Alaskan or Labrador cruises would be fine for most of them.

There are others he'd like to submit to the tender offices of a certain fisherman and licensed guide of the north woods named Herbie. If any of them began getting off on Herbie the kind of thing they've been filling the air with down here, Herbie would snort, roll his cud, spit and utter three condemning words:

"Too Much Gab."

Under this treatment the most loquacious of Summer vacationers paying Herbie ten dollars a day for his services has been known to blush, then to chuckle, and for the rest of the day to concentrate silently on his fishing.

PLEASANT RADIO

ARADIO CRITIC who is noted for his belief in radio and his boosting for its future, Robert S. Stephan of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, makes a plea for "pleasant moments" on the radio.

"To hear family troubles all day and tragedies in most of our evening sketches doesn't improve the average household outlook.

"There is something grimly ironic about many plays I've heard over radio produced in the interest of world peace. Most of them argue peace by depicting war horrors with all the realism within their command. I have seen feminine dialers cover their eyes with the terror of it as memories surged back. Could a forceful play be written, do you think, without a review of past wars or a preview of a war to come? Would a plot based entirely upon benefits of peace fail to have the punch of one based on the tragedies of war?"

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to find the morn a beautiful one, the kind that make living really worth while. Scanned the prints leisurely over coffee and then headed for the day's chores. Work a pleasure in such weather after the stifling temperatures of not so many days past.

Saw Jerry, Jim Brown's great Siamese cat that took first prize in the last cat show in the capital city. Mrs. Wesley Justice has a pair of them and two five-month-old kittens as well, the youngsters just beginning to acquire their black markings. Didn't know until now that Siamese cats are white when born.

Hulse Hays turned over a letter received from Miss Emeda Sage at Cromwell, Conn. Just 100 years ago her father, Rufus B. Sage, was working on this paper as a printer and he wrote to his folk in the East that he had a fine job at $1 a day and was "doing very well." "Through my exertions principally," he wrote, "there has been a Society established in this place called the Society of Debates, which is now in a very flourishing condition. We hold our meetings once a week, and have sometimes very interesting and animating discussions. I find it a prolific source of improvement. I have got so that I can speak in public quite well."

"We had a very fine time here on July 4, 1839. I wrote a song which was sung on the occasion, which I send you published in this day's paper, and some of my writings are being republished."

An interesting close to that letter. Not the modern kind at all. "Wishing you the enjoyment of life, health, prosperity and every needed blessing, and praying of a kind Providence to protect us all, I remain your affectionate son, Rufus B. Sage." Rufus went from here to Colorado where he became one of the most important early explorers of that region.

Much I have heard about Chief Logan, but not until this day did I learn the manner of his death, details being set forth in a copy of Coronet Liquor, writes the author, brought about the downfall of the great Indian. Logan's father had inveighed against temperance and Logan himself had once charged the whites to stop the sale of rum. But Logan became a brooding, bitter man and rum made him forget. Logan attended a Detroit council in 1780 and when intoxicated struck his wife, almost killing her. He was pursued by his wife's relations and when in a semi-stupor from the effects of liquor, was shot and killed by his own nephew.

Despite his sad end the name of Logan will live, epitomizing the story of the Indians' wrongs. Who, once having read it, can forget that great speech of the chief's beginning: "I appeal to any white man . . ."

ABROGATION OF TREATY TIMED

WASHINGTON—It is no particular secret that Secretary Hull's sudden move to abrogate the commercial treaty with Japan was planned because of the psychological effect it would have not only upon Japan, but on her dictator allies—Italy and Germany.

However, it is still supposed to be a secret that confidential cables received by the State, War and Navy Departments indicate Hitler's troop maneuvers will be in a highly favorable position for him to take Danzig in mid-August. Some prophets even set the date at August 15, though obviously date-setting is risky.

Anyway, the slap at Japan's commercial treaty was timed to head off the European crisis, if possible. It is in the same category as Roosevelt's sudden shift of the U. S. Fleet back to the Pacific last May, and his peace proposals to Hitler and Mussolini. The idea is to let the dictators know exactly where the United States stands, also, in this particular case, to give a little moral support to the British.

HULL IN REVERSE

Another secret not supposed to be advertised is that Cordell Hull, though always casting stern frowns in Japan's direction, has been extremely timid about doing more than frown. Just a year ago, for instance, Admiral Yarnell gave a stiff reply to the Japanese when they informed him that the Yangtze River would be closed to U. S. shipping in a 200 miles zone around Wuhu. Yarnell replied that American gunboats were on the Yangtze to protect American lives and property and they would go wherever their duties required.

This statement almost gave Mr. Hull heart failure. He called in Admiral Leahy, then boss of Admiral Yarnell, and protested.

"That's the kind of thing that will turn people against us," he told Leahy, "putting ourselves out to be shot at by the Japanese."

"You'll find, Mr. Secretary," replied Leahy, "that that was the best piece of diplomacy we ever did for you. You haven't heard a word from the Japanese. And it increased our prestige in the Orient, with our own people and with the entire world."

Later Secretary Hull complained to Admiral Leahy that the U. S. gunboat Luzon should be withdrawn from the Yangtze. He said he was afraid that there might be another Panay incident.

"Well what do you want me to do," replied Leahy, "pick up a gunboat from the Yangtze with a pair of tweezers and put it down in Charleston or San Francisco? I'll move the Luzo all right, but have you thought what Mr. Johnson (U. S. Ambassador) and his staff will do—how they'll get out of Hankow?"

That, it is important to note, was in June and July of last year. Today Mr. Hull's policy toward Japan has undergone an almost revolutionary stiffening. It is

Seek Immunity From Poison Ivy

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE ERUPTION of poison ivy or poison oak, once seen or experienced, can never be forgotten. The angry, blistering appearance of the skin looks as bad as it feels.

When the eruption has actually occurred, its treatment is most unsatisfactory. The fact that in MacNair's book on "Ivy Dermatitis" he lists seven pages of vaunted remedies proves this. It is a pretty good rule that when there are more than three sure-fire remedies for anything, none of them is very good.

Most recommended is first to wash the skin affected with benzine, alcohol or ether soap. Since the poison is an oil, carbol, it is best dissolved in one of these substances. Of all the local applications to relieve discomfort, the best is carbolic acid and mentholated calamine lotion. Cold water is almost as good; in fact, when the discomfort becomes almost intolerable it may work best.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Prevention Important
Prevention, then, assumes most importance. We have showed there is proof of the fact that only about one-third of all people are highly susceptible. These can be detected by the application of the virus to the unbroken skin. This fact is extremely important, because military encampments, scout camps, etc., have been entirely disrupted by severe epidemics of rhus poisoning.

In 1916 Duncan first advocated the ancient folk remedy of chewing the leaves of the plant, but this causes too violent stomach upset. This was improved by using an alcoholic extract of the leaves. Preparations of this kind can be obtained from pharmacists. I have heard the person testifying of a number of people to the effectiveness of this method of prevention.

One woman who wanted to accompany her husband on hiking and hunting trips used to suffer tortures, so that for several years she desisted. After using an extract by mouth she was able to go into the woods and even deliberately expose herself to the plant without any ill effects. But, in general, the testimony is against the effectiveness of these oral administrations.

Preventive Methods
Maisei advocates the use of a bath in which about four drops of the extract is placed in ten gallons of water, and this amount gradually increased. This might be valuable in selected cases, as for instance, one of his—a Boy Scout leader who had an attack every time he went with his troop, and who found no relief in injections.

Injection under the skin of the extract dissolved in olive oil has proved much more generally successful. The injections are painless. One is given once a week, for four weeks. No bad reactions are reported.

The extract is also used in treatment after eruption has occurred. One injection is made every twenty-four hours until symptoms abate. Reports say that after the first injection marked improvement is usually noted. After the third or fourth treatment, inflammation, pain and itching entirely subside.

Spraying the Plants

Poison ivy and oak can be destroyed in your garden by spraying the plant with a strong solution of common salt in soapy water or kerosene. This spraying is an improvement on pulling them up, especially if the puller-upper is an unsuspectedly susceptible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. L. F.: "I have never seen any discussion by you of lymphatic leukemia. Can you tell me where I can get any information about this?"

Answer—The medical man does not know very much about lymphatic leukemia. All the available information about it will be found in any comprehensive encyclopedia.

F. R.: "What is potassium used for as a medicine? What is bromide used for as a medicine? Are ironized yeast tablets good for people who have high blood pressure?"

Answer—Potassium alone is not used in medicine. Many potassium salts are used, as potassium iodide, potassium bromide, potassium citrate and potassium acetate. Bromides are used in medicine as sedatives, particularly for epilepsy. Ironized yeast will not help high blood pressure unless anemia is also present.

M. T.: "How can I become permanently rid of corns? I have been paring them for about three months. Should I stop this practice?"

Answer: Corns are almost invariably caused by bad-fitting shoes or thin stockings or a combination. Paring does no harm.

L. R.: "I have had a tooth removed from the lower side of my mouth. I would like to know if it would benefit me by having a new tooth put in?"

Answer: Yes. The loss of the tooth weakens the entire arch of the jaw, and endangers other teeth.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. CHAPTER FOUR

JERRY DALE was grinning even though no mirth was in his heart. He had the unlovely habit of grinning this way at an adversary because he held high confidence in himself.

"All right, Jasper," he growled at the slender man, "are you satisfied?"

Jasper Peters couldn't answer; he was groggy, and he was spitting and drooling blood. Dale's fist had cracked a tooth, loosened two more, cut his mouth badly. Jasper lay sprawled on the ground.

Dale himself was untouched; even his hair was in place, as usual. He had gotten in precisely the blow he anticipated—a quick knock down, and the fight was over. He wished somebody had seen it; a man such as he likes to have an audience any time. He looked now and did see a third man approaching around the corner of the high Phantom hay barn.

"Jerry, what's up?" the third man called, seeing Jasper on the ground.

"Nothing's up," Jerry Dale said, still grinning. "On the contrary, Jasper Peters is down. I told him he looked like a woolly sheep, with his week-old whiskers. He tried to make something of it."

The newcomer was a big man with a mop of white hair. His head suggested that he might be 75 or 80 years of age, but his face instantly corrected that. He couldn't have been more than 55, perhaps not even 50. Some men do whiten so prematurely as to be spectacular with it. George Brazee was one of them; the white added high dignity.

"He tried to make something of it?" Mr. Brazee echoed.

"Yep," said Dale. "He forgot who I was, I guess. Forgot I was intercollegiate boxing champion. That's only been two years ago. I've kept in good shape since, too."

"Um," said Mr. Brazee, studying the situation. Peters had risen slowly to his feet, but still looked miserable, holding his mouth.

"Yep, he forgot," Jerry repeated, grinning again.

"I see," said Mr. Brazee, calmly. "And did YOU forget anything?"

"Huh? Doesn't look like it, does it? He came in with his guard wide open."

"What I meant was—did you overlook the detail of Mr. Peters' age? And size? You and I are built like Hereford bulls. Jasper isn't."

"Sure, Mr. Brazee, that's what I meant! He forgot it's dangerous to pick on a bull, unless you're a bull yourself!"

"Um, Jas," as Jasper came to, "go on in the house and ask Sally to doctor that lip. Now you, Jerry—what if his whiskers are graying, and stick out crazily? Wouldn't you say it's his affair?"

"Nuts!" said Jerry. "He needn't carry a chip on his shoulder I had to discipline him a little, is all."

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of excellent prospects for achieving major ambitions, with very expansive influences at work favoring cherished business or social desires. Stubborn opposition may be offered by elders or influential persons, who may be placated by strategem or finesse. Change of plans may be needed. Be cautious with writings and documents.

A child born on this day will be energetic, ambitious and capable, but may be inclined to attain its ends by erratic, irregular or dubious practices, leaning toward policy rather than principle. Early training in this respect is recommended.

Jasper Peters couldn't answer.

"I see," Mr. Brazee still spoke seriously. Well, Time has a way with these things. Anyway, we have a common enemy to worry about instead of fighting among ourselves. Furthermore, Mr. Peters had on a loaded pistol—and didn't draw it."

"He didn't have a chance!" Jerry laughed aloud at that, walking away from his friend and employer.

Jerry strode gracefully, like the lithe young giant he was. He was a striking figure walking now toward the main corral. He always was, for that matter. Mrs. Brazee was for that matter. Mrs. Brazee was very handsome. But he already knew that, too.

The Dale family in Phoenix, and the Brazee family, had been friends since before bucky young Jerry was born. Oscar Dale himself had been a rancher once. He was happy when young Jerry "took" to cattle even though Jerry saw the range industry through modern eyes. Jerry had not planned simply to own a ranch. He had gone through a technical college to specialize in agronomy.

That delighted both families, for the wiser, broader men in the southwest all realized the need for scientific improvements in breeding and developing beef cattle; an energetic man such as young Dale could make a name for himself and do a lot of good, too.

It had seemed entirely logical for Jerry to start his work on Brazee's vast Phantom ranch. Trouble with the cattle rustlers hadn't started then, and the Phantom offered every kind of grass, browse and animal necessary for scientific tests and experiments. It was within half a day's run of the state university through which he could have official supervision and guidance for the industry at large, yet was sufficiently isolated so that he would have no town distractions.

Most important, however, was the fact that he was to live with family friends, the Brazees; people who had helped rear him and who took a great personal interest in his career. It was Mrs. Brazee who, in just pride, had sent Jerry's photograph to Lorena Hamilton, the beloved niece. The Brazee's had no children of their own. Hints on Etiquette

You may have many little natural mannerisms or habits that add charm to your personality. If you have acquired bad habits or irritating mannerisms, however, you should try to correct them. One that is common and very annoying is the habit of constantly interrupting when another person is talking.

Today's Horoscope

The person who has a birthday today may look forward to a generally fortunate year, with beneficial changes. He must, however, be prepared for the opposition of an elder. A child born today will be filled with good intentions and cleverness, but will be somewhat unreliable, and should be trained from babyhood to control strong desires.

GOOD FISHING!

THE silly season comes in with a bang this year, not even awaiting the advent of the fateful first of August. John L. Lewis calls John N. Garner a lot of more or less unpleasant names, and Congress rises to the latter's defense with prolonged applause. Then a Congressman rebukes Congress by saying Roosevelt has recently been called worse names and no one did anything about it. Could anything be sillier than any of this? The pink skunks and sea serpents of other years are not in the running with these causes for laughter.

The Lord High Executioner of comic opera need not be called in with his famous little list of those who never would be missed. The nation has no desire to kill off any of its most entertaining performers. But the average citizen has a list of people he'd like to see take nice long August vacations. He could spare Lewis and Coughlin and Garner and Dickinson and a dozen others whose tempers or viewings-with-alarm seem to rise with the temperatures. Cool Alaskan or Labrador cruises would be fine for most of them.

There are others he'd like to submit to the tender offices of a certain fisherman and licensed guide of the north woods named Herbie. If any of them began getting off on Herbie the kind of thing they've been filling the air with down here, Herbie would snort, roll his cud, spit and utter three condemning words:

"Too Much Gab."

Under this treatment the most loquacious of Summer vacationers paying Herbie ten dollars a day for his services has been known to blush, then to chuckle, and for the rest of the day to concentrate silently on his fishing.

PLEASANT RADIO

A RADIO CRITIC who is noted for his belief in radio and his boosting for its future, Robert S. Stephan of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, makes a plea for "pleasant moments" on the radio.

"To hear family troubles all day and tragedies in most of our evening sketches doesn't improve the average household outlook.

"There is something grimly ironic about many plays I've heard over radio produced in the interest of world peace. Most of them argue peace by depicting war horrors with all the realism within their command. I have seen feminine dialers cover their eyes with the terror of it as memories surged back. Could a forceful play be written, do you think, without a review of past wars or a preview of a war to come? Would a plot based entirely upon benefits of peace fail to have the punch of one based on the tragedies of war?"

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.

ABROGATION OF TREATY TIMED WASHINGTON—It is no particular secret that Secretary Hull's sudden move to abrogate the commercial treaty with Japan was planned because of the psychological effect it would have not only upon Japan, but on her dictator allies—Italy and Germany.

However, it is still supposed to be a secret that confidential cables received by the State, War and Navy Departments indicate Hitler's troop maneuvers will be in a highly favorable position for him to take Danzig in mid-August. Some prophets even set the date at August 15, though obviously date-setting is risky.

Anyway, the slap at Japan's commercial treaty was timed to head off the European crisis, if possible. It is in the same category as Roosevelt's sudden shift of the U. S. Fleet back to the Pacific last May, and his peace proposals to Hitler and Mussolini. The idea is to let the dictators know exactly where the United States stands, also, in this particular case, to give a little moral support to the British.

He couldn't have been more than 55, perhaps not even 50. Some men do whiten so prematurely as to be spectacular with it. George Brazee was one of them; the white added high dignity.

"He tried to make something of it?" Mr. Brazee echoed.

"Yep," said Dale. "He forgot who I was, I guess. Forgot I was intercollegiate boxing champion. That's only been two years ago. I've kept in good shape since, too."

"Um," said Mr. Brazee, studying the situation. Peters had risen slowly to his feet, but still looked miserable, holding his mouth.

"Yep, he forgot," Jerry repeated, grinning again.

"I see," said Mr. Brazee, calmly. "And did YOU forget anything?"

"Huh? Doesn't look like it, does it? He came in with his guard wide open."

"What I meant was—did you overlook the detail of Mr. Peters' age? And size? You and I are built like Hereford bulls. Jasper isn't."

"Sure, Mr. Brazee, that's what I meant! He forgot it's dangerous to pick on a bull, unless you're a bull yourself!"

"Um, Jas," as Jasper came to, "go on in the house and ask Sally to doctor that lip. Now you, Jerry—what if his whiskers are graying, and stick out crazily? Wouldn't you say it's his affair?"

"Nuts!" said Jerry. "He needn't carry a chip on his shoulder I had to discipline him a little, is all."

goals, but use discretion with all papers or documents.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of excellent prospects for achieving major ambitions, with very expansive influences at work favoring cherished business or social desires. Stubborn opposition may be offered by elders or influential persons, who may be placated by strategem or finesse. Change of plans may be needed. Be cautious with writings and documents.

A child born on this day will be energetic, ambitious and capable, but may be inclined to attain its ends by erratic, irregular or dubious practices, leaning toward policy rather than principle. Early training in this respect is recommended.

Jasper Peters couldn't answer.

"I see," Mr. Brazee still spoke seriously. Well, Time has a way with these things. Anyway, we have a common enemy to worry about instead of fighting among ourselves. Furthermore, Mr. Peters had on a loaded pistol—and didn't draw it."

"He didn't have a chance!" Jerry laughed aloud at that, walking away from his friend and employer.

Jerry strode gracefully, like the lithe young giant he was. He was a striking figure walking now toward the main corral. He always was, for that matter. Mrs. Brazee—Sally Brazee—once told him he was very handsome. But he already knew that, too.

The Dale family in Phoenix, and the Brazee family, had been friends since before bucky young Jerry was born. Oscar Dale himself had been a rancher once. He was happy when young Jerry "took to cattle even though Jerry saw the range industry through modern eyes. Jerry had not planned simply to own a ranch. He had gone through a technical college to specialize in agronomy.

That delighted both families, for the wiser, broader men in the southwest all realized the need for scientific improvements in breeding and developing beef cattle; an energetic man such as young Dale could make a name for himself and do a lot of good, too.

It had seemed entirely logical for Jerry to start his work on Brazee's vast Phantom ranch. Trouble with the cattle ranchers hadn't started then, and the Phantom offered every kind of grass, browse and animal necessary for scientific tests and experiments. It was within half a day's run of the state university through which he could have official supervision and guidance for the industry at large, yet was sufficiently isolated so that he would have no town distractions.

Most important, however, was the fact that he was to live with family friends, the Brazees; people who had helped rear him and who took a great personal interest in his career. It was Mrs. Brazee who, in just pride, had sent Jerry's photograph to Lorena Hamilton, her beloved niece. The Brazee's had no children of their own. If they, therefore, felt more than friendly pride in handsome Jerry, it was

Hints on Etiquette

You may have many little natural mannerisms or habits that add charm to your personality. If you have acquired bad habits or irritating mannerisms, however, you should try to correct them. One that is common and very annoying is the habit of constantly interrupting when another person is talking.

Today's Horoscope

The person who has a birthday today may look forward to a generally fortunate year, with beneficial changes. He must, however, be prepared for the opposition of an elder. A child born today will be filled with good intentions and cleverness, but will be somewhat unreliable, and should be trained from babyhood to control strong desires.

Bell-Brehmer Marriage Vows Exchanged Before Trinity Church's Altar

Colors of Green, White Feature Decorations

Social Calendar

Matted decorations of Oregon fern and huckleberry foliage and woodwardia fern, with fancy leafed caladium for color interspersed with cathedral baskets of white lilies, gladioli and chrysanthemums, formed the setting in Trinity Lutheran church for the Tuesday morning wedding of Miss Elsie Ann Brehmer and Mr. Joseph Franklin Bell of Circleville. Tall white tapers in seven branched candelabra on either side of the chancel guarded the approach to the altar and white tapers lighted the large sprays of huckleberry in the window recesses. Wide bands of white ribbon marked the pews reserved for the members of the immediate families.

Mrs. Karl Herrmann, an aunt of the bride, played a program of nuptial music for the quarter of an hour preceding the ceremony. Her selections included "Venetian Love Song," Nevin; "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "At Dawning," Charles Wakefield Cadman. Mrs. Herrmann wore a flowered chiffon frock and yellow shoulder corsage.

As the hands of the clock moved upward from 10:30, the strains of Mendelssohn's "Bridal Chorus" signaled the approach of the wedding party.

Mr. Bell and Mr. James Reichelderfer, his best man, in white suits with dubonnet boutonnières, came from the chancel and took their places at the foot of the steps before the altar.

Mr. Robert Brehmer, Jr., brother of the bride, and Mr. Otis Mader, the ushers, also in white, were followed down the aisle by Miss Doris Moffitt and Mrs. Alfred J. Henney, Columbus, the bridesmaids.

Their gowns, Miss Moffitt's of delicate pink and Mrs. Henney's of clear blue, were fashioned alike with tight bodices, finished with square necklines and short full puffed sleeves. Made princess style, the skirts swept to the floor in flaring fullness from the waistlines. Three bands of opposite color ribbons, finished with rosettes, on the under of the double skirted frocks, were the only trimming.

Each bridesmaid wore a lovely cameo on a slender chain around her neck, these being the gifts of the bride. Their bouquets of roses were matched by the small bunches which they wore in their hair.

Mrs. Harold Sheridan, Chillicothe, who was matron of honor for her cousin, was attractive in a chaste white dress, made with a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves, the floor length skirt sweeping from the snug waist. The flowers of her arm bouquet and in her hair were of a matching rich copper shade. She also wore a cameo, her gift from the bride.

The bride came to the altar on the arm of her father, Mr. Robert L. Brehmer, who gave her in marriage. The softly draped bodice of her starched marquisette frock was finished with a sweetheart neckline. Appliques of flowers of like material trimmed the short puffed sleeves and underbodie of the gown. The long full skirt swept into a brief train in the back. Her finger-tip length veil fell from a halo of waxed orange blossoms. A beautiful white orchid centered her shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. A strand of pearls, her gift from the bridegroom, was the only jewelry worn by the bride.

The Rev. George L. Troutman performed the double ring ceremony, using for the first time in this church, the new American Lutheran service.

The former Miss Brehmer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brehmer of 581 N. Court street, and Mr. Bell, the son of Mrs. J. M. Bell and the late Mr. Bell of Northridge Road, both were graduated from Circleville high school in 1935. She attended Ohio university, Athens, for the two years following, teaching in the schools of Circleville since that time. Mr. Bell, a senior in Ohio university, will complete his course in Physical Education this next semester, his bride also planning to take several subjects at the university during this time.

Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Brehmer entertained the members of the bridal party and the immediate families at breakfast at the Pickaway Country Club. Covers were laid for 26 guests at three tables set on the porch. The tables were centered with lovely arrangements of asters, delphinium and euphorbia and other summer flowers. In addition to the flowers, a large beautifully decorated wedding cake containing the traditional favors was on the bride's table, where the members of the wedding party were seated. Mrs. Brehmer received her guests in a rose lace and crepe frock, with which she wore a shoulder corsage of blue delphinium. Mrs. Bell, mother of the bridegroom, wore navy, and his sister, Mrs. Joseph Beam of Port William, rose lace with contrasting shoulder corsages.

They will return by way of New York, where they will visit the World's Fair, and will make stops in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. before returning home. Mrs. Bell wore a black alpaca suit with matching hat and shoes, her frilly white blouse and white gloves making a charming contrast. Pinned to her shoulder, she wore the white orchid which had centered her bouquet. The couple will be in Circleville after their trip, until about Sept. 10, when they will leave to spend the next few months in Athens.

They will return by way of New York, where they will visit the World's Fair, and will make stops in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. before returning home. Mrs. Bell wore a black alpaca suit with matching hat and shoes, her frilly white blouse and white gloves making a charming contrast. Pinned to her shoulder, she wore the white orchid which had centered her bouquet. The couple will be in Circleville after their trip, until about Sept. 10, when they will leave to spend the next few months in Athens.

BEACH OUTFIT

If you like the comfort of slacks but find them unfair to your waist and hips, go in for the smock-blouse instead of the shirt, and stride confidently along with your very slim friends. Here's one version in contrasting tone to the pants, both pieces made of sturdy cotton which launders with the minimum of shrinkage. This means it would take a laboratory test to determine the difference sundering makes. Pink with fuchsia, wine and turquoise and brown with yellow are possible color combinations for white sand and sail-boating, or you may have both pieces in beige, blue, green or rust. Dinner dresses of sleek jersey are also made with the smock top, accompanying skirts being fully gathered.

Sheila Barrett, mimic extraordinary, pays a visit to the hour that made her nationally famous. She had a several weeks run on the Vallee show before doing a program of her own.

One of the most colorful figures in the sports' world is Gabby Hartnett who manages the Chicago Cubs as well as doing the catching chores. His radio interview with Rudy comes up when he is rapidly nearing Ray Schalk's long-standing record for the total number of games caught by one man in the big leagues.

Lou Holtz will be in and out of the dialogue all during the program. Sam Lapidus will have his say also, but he's strictly a Holtz character.

BOB CROSBY

Bob Crosby and songstress, Helen Ward, will do their first double vocal since Crosby went on the air for Benny Goodman's sponsor when the Dixieland Song Shop is broadcast tonight at 8:30 over CBS. Pair will offer "My Cutie's Due at Two Two."

Crosby's Dixieland Swing band will play "Well, Allright," "Stairway to the Stars," and "March of the Bobcats." "Slow Mood," a tune written by Eddie Miller, Crosby's tenor sax player, will be a feature of the program. Miss Ward will do a Crosby version of "Dixieland Band," a number she used to sing when she was a member of Goodman's orchestra. Johnny Mercer will sing out the week's news to the tune of "Old Fashioned Love."

Preview Of Armstrong, Ambers Battle Begins

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—They are not overlooking the intrinsic ballyhoo value involved, to be sure, but aside from that plump Eddie Mead, manager of Henry Armstrong, and plumper Al Weil, manager of Lou Ambers, were quite on the level as they went into the fang-bearing stages of an old argument and prepared to bring it out of the back room and before the boxing commission today. Briefly, Mr. Mead, a sly one, wants Mr. Weil to post $20,000 in connection with the Aug. 22 fight for the lightweight title between Champion Armstrong and Ambers. But Mr. Weil has no intention of getting mixed up in any such nonsense—not with his money.

The issue at stake is that one which bobs up every time a champion of two divisions defends the lighter of his two titles. In this case, Armstrong, who also is welter champion, is giving Ambers a crack at the lightweight title and Mr. Mead is fearful that Mr. Weil will claim both crowns for his man in case he wins. What Mr. Mead would stipulate specifically is that Ambers meet Armstrong again before Nov. 1 for the welter championship, in the event of an Ambers lightweight victory August 22.

The cause of Mr. Mead's concern is obvious. If Ambers should beat Armstrong and lay claim to both titles he would find considerable public support to his position, on the basis that Ambers, a lightweight, beat the best lightweight and welterweight in the world, and thus deserves to be acclaimed double champion. And where would that leave Armstrong? It would leave him in a barrel, roughly, utterly denied of regal raiment.

The little black man long since has given up his featherweight championship, due to his inability to make the weight, and there are those who insist he is about to blow the lightweight tiara back to the man he beat for it a year ago—meaning Ambers, of course. They are convinced that Armstrong's are gone beyond recall and they remember how close the bout between these two very tough little cents was when they met before.

So, one way and another, it's a fine kettle of fish we've got stewing around here, with the whole thing to be given to the boxing commission at its weekly double talk session late today.

The commission is going to reiterate in triple tongue that the rules specify and stipulate that one and only one title or championship can be placed at stake and in jeopardy at one and the same time and that therefore and furthermore period.

However, Mr. Mead distinctly does not like the way Mr. Weil smiles smugly at him, like a cat that is fixing to eat a mouse.

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 1—Seeded players who advanced as expected through the first two rounds of the national and junior boys' tennis tournament faced sterner competition today as the third round was started.

A surprise loser was Bobby Jake of Milwaukee, 1938 boys' champion, who was defeated in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, by Ben Nixon of San Antonio, Texas, in the junior division. Another upset victim was Marshall Chambers of Cincinnati, runner-up to Jake last year, who was eliminated by Gardner Larned of Chicago, 6-3, 6-0.

Top seeded Ted Olewin of Santa Monica, Cal., easily won his junior match against Paul Dammler, Ft. Wayne, Ind., by 6-0; 6-2. Budge Patty, of Los Angeles, boys' favorite, drew a bye.

The Miller's leaped ahead of idle Kansas City last night as they shut out St. Paul 8 to 0. Herb Hash allowed the Saints only five hits for his fifteenth win of the year.

Today's games take Indianapolis to Columbus; Louisville to Toledo; Minneapolis to Milwaukee and St. Paul to Kansas City.

HERB HASH WINS FOR MILLERS TO BOOST HIS TEAM

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 1—The Minneapolis Millers, who have occupied second place in the American Association almost since the start of the season, were in first place today if only by three percentage points.

The Miller's leaped ahead of idle Kansas City last night as they shut out St. Paul 8 to 0. Herb Hash allowed the Saints only five hits for his fifteenth win of the year.

CINCINNATI AND NEW YORK MEET AT REDS' FIELD

Rhinelanders Need To Play .500 Ball To Finish In First Place

MONTH'S RECORD LISTED

Yankees Remain In Front Of Red Sox; Detroit Provides Test

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1—With pennant fever very much in evidence, the Cincinnati Reds played host to the New York Giants today. The Reds, 12 games in front of the National league, were idle yesterday.

A summary of the month just passed showed the league leaders won 22 and lost only seven games, a .759 average. With 64 games remaining on their schedule, experts figured that if the Reds played .500 ball from here on out the pennant and a place in the World's series was theirs.

Paul Derringer was scheduled to oppose Lohrman or Salvo on the mound.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—Fourteen major league teams—seven in each loop—today resumed their fruitless pursuit of the New York Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds after resting yesterday when the baseball schedule was completely bare of activity.

With the pennant parades advancing into August, the Reds have a 12-game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league and the Yankees are out-footing the Boston Red Sox by nine games in the American.

Here's the lineup for this afternoon:

American league—Detroit at New York, Cleveland at Boston, St. Louis at Washington and Chicago at Philadelphia.

National league—New York at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia at Chicago and Boston at St. Louis.

LARRY FRENCH'S PLEA FOR WORK GOES TO OWNER

CHICAGO, Aug. 1—Circumstances of Southpaw Larry French's "appeal" to President P. K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs last week were straightened out today by a formal statement by Wrigley.

Some reports of the meeting between French and his boss were to the effect the pitcher had asked for his release because he was not satisfied with his status, but this was denied by Wrigley, who stated:

"Larry French did not ask for his unconditional release and had no complaints to make except that he would like to be able to work more often."

The pitcher, who was a regular starter last season, has for most of this season been used in relief roles although he started the year fairly well.

French would not comment on the situation today except to admit he had seen Wrigley. Manager Gabby Hartnett also remained mum.

RACING GROUPS NAMED IN SUIT BY TAXPAYER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1—Two unusual suits totaling $1,850,000 were on file in Los Angeles today against the Los Angeles Turf Club, which operates the Santa Anita track, and the Hollywood Turf Club, operators of Hollywood Park.

The suits were filed by Clarence Birney, in the role of a taxpayer. He alleged that since the two clubs have been operating, they have retained more commissions on betting than the law permits.

He claimed the Santa Anita track should return to the state $1,500,000 and the Hollywood track $350,000.

Birney's contention was that through the pari-mutuel system of breakage in paying off the bets, the tracks have been computing the betting returns on the basis of the next lower multiple of 20. This system, he said, allows them to retain as commission odd cents under 20.

WILLIE RUSSELL WINS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1—Willie Russell, Columbus lightweight, today held a 10-round decision over Larry Cisneros, of Mexico. The fight was so close that many ring-siders had scored the fight in the Mexican's favor. In preliminaries, Young Howdy, 123, Kenton, took the nod from Chuck Williams, 118, Columbus; Billy Cruz gained a six-round decision over Sammy Mack; Freddie Hunt, 136, Washington C. H., won a six rounder from Jack Sena, 136, Detroit.

Preview Of Armstrong, Ambers Battle Begins

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—They are not overlooking the intrinsic ballyhoo value involved, to be sure, but aside from that plump Eddie Mead, manager of Henry Armstrong, and plumper Al Weil, manager of Lou Ambers, were quite on the level as they went into the fang-bearing stages of an old argument and prepared to bring it out of the back room and before the boxing commission today. Briefly, Mr. Mead, a sly one, wants Mr. Weil to post $20,000 in connection with the Aug. 22 fight for the lightweight title between Champion Armstrong and Ambers. But Mr. Weil has no intention of getting mixed up in any such nonsense—not with his money.

The issue at stake is that one which bobs up every time a champion of two divisions defends the lighter of his two titles. In this case, Armstrong, who also is welter champion, is giving Ambers a crack at the lightweight title and Mr. Mead is fearful that Mr. Weil will claim both crowns for his man in case he wins. What Mr. Mead would stipulate specifically is that Ambers meet Armstrong again before Nov. 1 for the welter championship, in the event of an Ambers lightweight victory August 22.

Concern Of Parent

The cause of Mr. Mead's concern is obvious. If Ambers should beat Armstrong and lay claim to both titles he would find considerable public support to his position, on the basis that Ambers, a lightweight, beat the best lightweight and welterweight in the world, and thus deserves to be acclaimed double champion. And where would that leave Armstrong? It would leave him in a barrel, roughly, utterly denuded of regal raiment.

The little black man long since has given up his featherweight championship, due to his inability to make the weight, and there are those who insist he is about to blow the lightweight tiara back to the man he beat for it a year ago—meaning Ambers, of course. They are convinced that Armstrong's are gone beyond recall and they remember how close the bout between these two very tough little cents was when they met before.

So, one way and another, it's a fine kettle of fish we've got stewing around here, with the whole thing to be given to the boxing commission at its weekly double talk session late today.

The commission is going to reiterate in triple tongue that the rules specify and stipulate that one and only one title or championship can be placed at stake and in jeopardy at one and the same time and that therefore and furthermore period.

However, Mr. Mead distinctly does not like the way Mr. Weil smiles smugly at him, like a cat that is fixing to eat a mouse.

HERE'S REPORT OF OVERNIGHT SPORTS EVENTS

Yankees Remain In Front Of Red Sox; Detroit Provides Test

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1—With pennant fever very much in evidence, the Cincinnati Reds played host to the New York Giants today. The Reds, 12 games in front of the National league, were idle yesterday.

LARRY FRENCH'S PLEA FOR WORK GOES TO OWNER

CHICAGO, Aug. 1—Circumstances of Southpaw Larry French's "appeal" to President P. K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs last week were straightened out today by a formal statement by Wrigley.

Some reports of the meeting between French and his boss were to the effect the pitcher had asked for his release because he was not satisfied with his status, but this was denied by Wrigley, who stated:

"Larry French did not ask for his unconditional release and had no complaints to make except that he would like to be able to work more often."

French would not comment on the situation today except to admit he had seen Wrigley. Manager Gabby Hartnett also remained mum.

RACING GROUPS NAMED IN SUIT BY TAXPAYER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1—Two unusual suits totaling $1,850,000 were on file in Los Angeles today against the Los Angeles Turf Club, which operates the Santa Anita track, and the Hollywood Turf Club, operators of Hollywood Park.

The suits were filed by Clarence Birney, in the role of a taxpayer. He alleged that since the two clubs have been operating, they have retained more commissions on betting than the law permits.

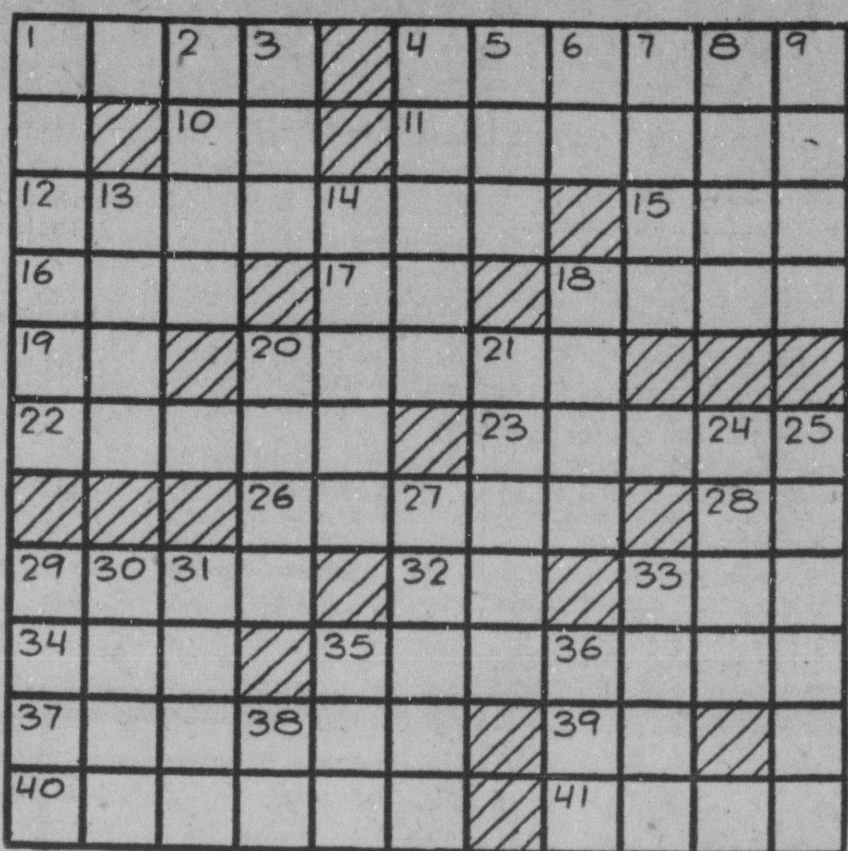

He claimed the Santa Anita track should return to the state $1,500,000 and the Hollywood track $350,000.

Birney's contention was that through the pari-mutuel system of breakage in paying off the bets, the tracks have been computing the betting returns on the basis of the next lower multiple of 20. This system, he said, allows them to retain as commission odd cents under 20.

WILLIE RUSSELL WINS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1—Willie Russell, Columbus lightweight, today held a 10-round decision over Larry Cisneros, of Mexico. The fight was so close that many ring-siders had scored the fight in the Mexican's favor. In preliminaries, Young Howdy, 123, Kenton, took the nod from Chuck Williams, 118, Columbus; Billy Cruz gained a six-round decision over Sammy Mack; Freddie Hunt, 136, Washington C. H., won a six rounder from Jack Sena, 136, Detroit.

IDEAL WEATHER BRINGS PICKAWAY COUNTY GREAT CROP OF CORN

RAINS IN JULY NEARLY AN INCH ABOVE NORMAL

Temperature Range From 60
Degrees To 105 Reported
By Weather Recorder

Pickaway county has a bumper corn crop this year.

Barring unusual weather conditions, rural folk predict this year's crop will be one of the largest in the county's history.

Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Pickaway county Farm Bureau, reports the crop in general in the county is the best he can remember. "I believe it will be the best corn crop we ever had," he said. "We have had good corn before but it was never so general throughout the county. Farmers had better get in condition for a real job of corn cutting."

Renick Dunlap, prominent Pickaway township farmer, said the crop this year in Pickaway county is the best he can remember.

Corn that was blown down by the storms in Washington township and the Williamsport district has straightened up surprising well, Mr. Briggs said.

Rain Proves Help

Rains during the last month, although presenting a problem to farmers who were anxious to thresh and combine wheat, have kept boosting the corn crop.

Rainfall during July amounted to 3.88 inches, Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, weather recorder, announced Tuesday. Normal for the month is about three inches. Only nine cloudy days were on the record. Miss Clarke said the temperature range for the month was from 60 to 105 degrees.

An unusual feature of the weather during July was the cool nights. Although the high temperature Monday was 90 degrees, the mercury slumped to 68 during the night.

INDICTED L. S. U. MAN'S DAUGHTER IS NEAR DEATH

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 1.—Because of the critical illness of his daughter, plans were being made early today to transfer Dr. James Munroe Smith, indicted ex-president of Louisiana State university from the federal prison in New Orleans to the jail at Baton Rouge.

Dr. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Owen Ware, is in a Baton Rouge hospital suffering from the after-effects of childbirth. She was given a blood transfusion late last night.

Smith, under indictment for the alleged embezzlement of $100,000 of L. S. U. funds, has been in jail in New Orleans in default of bonds totaling more than $200,000.

The transfer was arranged after a telephone conference between District Attorney Dewey Sanchez in Baton Rouge and U. S. Attorney Rene Viosca in New Orleans.

Federal Judge Wayne D. Borah signed an order transferring the prisoner.

Deputies were reported on their way from Baton Rouge to take Dr. Smith to that city so he could visit his daughter in the hospital.

CHURCH SESSION AT CAMPGROUND GREAT SUCCESS

The Stoutsville United Brethren campground is having what many think to be the best camp in many years. The attendance has been large from the opening service last Tuesday night. Sunday brought great crowds, many of them from long distances. The camp will continue until next Sunday night.

There are three evangelistic services each day, at 10, 2:15, and 7:30 respectively. At these services the preaching is taken alternately by Rev. P. E. Wright, D. D., of Lancaster, superintendent of the Southeast Ohio United Brethren Conference, and Rev. Dewey Whitwell, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., superintendent of the Tennessee Conference. The music is directed by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nelson, of Chicago.

Other services on the grounds include the Ministers' Clinic at 8 a. m., conducted alternately by Dr. Wright and Dr. Whitwell; the Vacation Bible School at the same hour; the leadership training school at 9 a. m.; and the ring meeting each evening at 6:30, conducted by the Rev. H. O. Davis.

Admission to the grounds this year is free at all times.

Designer Of Louisiana's Capitol Building Cited

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—Indictment of Leon C. Weiss, member of a prominent firm of architects who designed the state capitol building in Baton Rouge and a $12,500,000 public hospital in New Orleans, today provided the newest sensation in Louisiana's political graft scandal.

Weiss, in an indictment handed down last evening by the East Baton Rouge grand jury, was named jointly with Dr. James Munroe Smith, the resigned president of Louisiana State university. They were charged with the embezzlement of $5,750 in connection with the sale of the Bienville hotel to the university.

Previously Dr. Smith had been indicted charged with embezzling $100,000 of L. S. U. funds. He is being held in the federal prison in New Orleans under heavy guard.

Weiss is a member of a firm which has handled a majority of the state's public building projects.

The indictment charges Dr. Smith with aiding and abetting. The money allegedly was embezzled by means of an appraisal fee growing out of sale of the Bienville hotel.

This is the third time the Bienville hotel, located in New Orleans, has figured in indictments. Seymour Weiss, a prominent hotel man of New Orleans, Dr. Smith and three others were indicted ten days ago by a federal grand jury charged with fleeing Louisiana State university by "re-selling" Bienville hotel fixtures to the university for $75,000 and splitting the money five ways.

Later Dr. Smith and Monte Hart, prominent contractor, were named in another federal indictment in which they were accused of fraudulently obtaining more than $10,000 from L. S. U. It was claimed that taxes which should have been paid by the Bienville hotel for 1936 were paid by the university.

The university had purchased the Bienville hotel on December 3, 1936, for a home for nurses employed by the state university medical college in New Orleans.

Leon Weiss's firm put up the $12,500,000 Charity hospital, a state and federal project, in New Orleans. The towering structure is not yet completed and is the subject of an inquiry by P.W.A. inspectors working under the United States attorney's office.

Lorio Named Too

The East Baton Rouge (state) grand jury also last evening indicted State Senator Dr. Clarence A. Lorio, George C. Griffon and H. D. Andrews on the charge of obtaining approximately $1,700 from the university on false pretenses. The indictment did not specifically reveal the manner by which the money was obtained.

Dr. Lorio was recently suspended as physician for L. S. U. Griffon and Andrews are Baton Rouge druggists. Griffon owns five stores at the state capitol.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Robert Young goes buckaroo for his fans in "Maisie," which opens Wednesday at the Cliftona theatre, and the result is as entertaining as it is surprising.

More than that, Young steps blithely from the out-and-out farce of "Honolulu" into a setting that rises to intense drama, climaxing with his trial for murder.

"Maisie," although it is set in the West, is a very modern story that develops from a comedy situation when a honky-tonk showgirl, stranded in Big Horn, Wyoming, meets a handsome ranch manager and decides to tame him. The taming involves two other sophisticates, an Eastern bred ranch owner and his philandering wife, and between the four is evolved a highly dramatic situation.

Ann Sothorn, featured with Young, gives one of the finest performances of her career as Maisie, the honky-tonk dancer.

Wiesen, who brought the charges, said from the witness stand that the blind judge forcibly ejected him from his office when he asked Bell to set aside a sentence imposed on his brother.

Judge Bell said he "only pushed" Wiesen from his office after being insulted.

IDEAL WEATHER BRINGS PICKAWAY COUNTY GREAT CROP OF CORN

RAINS IN JULY NEARLY AN INCH ABOVE NORMAL

Temperature Range From 60 Degrees To 105 Reported By Weather Recorder

Pickaway county has a bumper corn crop this year. Barring unusual weather conditions, rural folk predict this year's crop will be one of the largest in the county's history.

Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Pickaway county Farm Bureau, reports the crop in general in the county is the best he can remember. "I believe it will be the best corn crop we ever had," he said. "We have had good corn before but it was never so general throughout the county. Farmers had better get in condition for a real job of corn cutting."

Renick Dunlap, prominent Pickaway township farmer, said the crop this year in Pickaway county is the best he can remember.

Corn that was blown down by the storms in Washington township and the Williamsport district has straightened up surprising well, Mr. Briggs said.

Rain Proves Help

Rains during the last month, although presenting a problem to farmers who were anxious to thresh and combine wheat, have kept boosting the corn crop.

Rainfall during July amounted to 3.88 inches, Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, weather recorder, announced Tuesday. Normal for the month is about three inches. Only nine cloudy days were on the record. Miss Clarke said the temperature range for the month was from 60 to 105 degrees.

An unusual feature of the weather during July was the cool nights. Although the high temperature Monday was 90 degrees, the mercury slumped to 68 during the night.

INDICTED L. S. U. MAN'S DAUGHTER IS NEAR DEATH

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 1.—Because of the critical illness of his daughter, plans were being made early today to transfer Dr. James Munroe Smith, indicted ex-president of Louisiana State university from the federal prison in New Orleans to the jail at Baton Rouge.

Dr. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Owen Ware, is in a Baton Rouge hospital suffering from the after-effects of childbirth. She was given a blood transfusion late last night.

Smith, under indictment for the alleged embezzlement of $100,000 of L. S. U. funds, has been in jail in New Orleans in default of bonds totaling more than $200,000.

The transfer was arranged after a telephone conference between District Attorney Dewey Sanchez in Baton Rouge and U. S. Attorney Rene Viosca in New Orleans.

Federal Judge Wayne D. Borah signed an order transferring the prisoner.

Deputies were reported on their way from Baton Rouge to take Dr. Smith to that city so he could visit his daughter in the hospital.

CHURCH SESSION AT CAMPGROUND GREAT SUCCESS

The Stoutsville United Brethren campground is having what many think to be the best camp in many years. The attendance has been large from the opening service last Tuesday night. Sunday brought great crowds, many of them from long distances. The camp will continue until next Sunday night.

There are three evangelistic services each day, at 10, 2:15, and 7:30 respectively. At these services the preaching is taken alternately by Rev. P. E. Wright, D. D., of Lancaster, superintendent of the Southeast Ohio United Brethren Conference, and Rev. Dewey Whitwell, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., superintendent of the Tennessee Conference. The music is directed by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nelson, of Chicago.

Other services on the grounds include the Ministers' Clinic at 8 a. m., conducted alternately by Dr. Wright and Dr. Whitwell; the Vacation Bible School at the same hour; the leadership training school at 9 a. m.; and the ring meeting each evening at 8:30, conducted by the Rev. H. O. Davis.

Admission to the grounds this year is free at all times.
